BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER.

Recommends the sale of a garden belonging to the temple of Sri Appanneyaswamy at Chickmahur, Channapatna Taluk.

NOTES AND ORDERS.

Hagey) The Dy. Commr recommends that the garden land measuring a 1-37 and assessed at Rs 12/- in Chickmahur village has been very much neglected by the present lessee, and therefore suggests that the garden may be sold in public auction and the realisations deposited in the Govt savings Bank, the stipulated services being celebrated from the interest accruing thereon. It is reported that the garden may fetch more than Rs 1000/- if it is sold.

It is observed from the Amildar's report (Para 4) that the garden together with wet lands S. no. 545 of Malur Grama - which were gifted to the temple by one Linganna, had been leased out to Nirmalachar for 5 years from 1903-4 that the khata of the lands is in the name of the deity and that they are intended for feeding during Kalyanotsava and other utsavams. The net income to the temple is reported to be Rs 40/-.

The Dy. Commr also reports (Para 5) that this garden is not the same as that referred to by one Nirmalachar in a separate petition; on (Para 6) submitted by the Dy. Commr's report is

Under Secretary's note

I inspected the garden under 6th Inst.

The garden and a Wet land have been presented to the Temple by one Sriyanna for performing Samaradhane on Kalyanotsava day at a cost of B. 40. Both have been leased to a member of Sriyanna's family on condition of paying to Temple Rs. amounting to B. 23-14-6 and B 40 to the Temple. The has expired last year. I am told the lessee pays this year the whole amount to B. 80 to be paid to the Temple & choice of the lessee.

Garden lands are not fertile and generally deteriorate. A Temple garden cannot be on such a good condition as a private garden. If the garden in this case is sold it is expected that the proceeds can be invested in the Savings Bank & will yield B 40 a year. The Wet land will yield enough to pay the Kalyanam to be paid. By this arrangement there can be no fear of the income falling off on account of the deterioration of the garden.

The sale has been recommended by the Court Officer. I have not visited the garden personally.
